IS THE CITY BEING ROBBED?

Men Said to Be on the Pay-Roll Who Don't Put in Their Time.

FITCH IS INVESTIGATING.

Sam Gompers's Brother Is an Assistant Foreman to the Water Purveyor.

HE MAKES CIGARS ALL DAY LONG.

And He Declares There Are Lots of Others Doing the Same Thing.

Startling revelations in what appear to be extensive frauds upon the city are likely to develop within the next few days.

In fact, one instance has already been discovered by an "Evening World" reporter where a city employee, according to his own confession, is supposed to be employed by the city while his time is really spent in rolling cigars in a factory in William street.

The alleged frauds thus far are said to be confined to the Water Purveyor's office, but it is not at all unlikely that the investigation already instituted may lead to an examination of other departments.

Last Wednesday, it is said, Comptroller Fitch received a letter informing him that there is a man on the city pay-roll who draws his salary regularly without rendering any service therefor. The letter gave the man's name, but did not mention the department in which the man purported to be employed.

When an "Evening World" reporter called at the Comptroller's office today he was informed that a letter had been received and that John Rapp, Deputy Collector of City Revenue and Markets, had been delegated by Comptroller Fitch to make an investigation. Mr. Rapp, one of the clerks said, was out on the matter and expected to make a report next Monday.

The same clerk said it was true that a man supposed to be drawing a salary without rendering any service for the same was said to be on the pay-roll, but in what department, he said, was not yet known. He had been told that the name was Gompert or Gumpert.

First Deputy Comptroller Richard Storrs said that although he knew some such investigation was under way, he was absolutely ignorant of the circumstances.

Mr. Fitch, he said, does not come down to the office Saturdays, and he did not believe any one else knew anything about the matter.

William J. Lyon, Auditor in the Comptroller's Department, was not in, but one of his assistants said he believed there was a man named Gompert, or Gumpert, on the pay-roll. Mr. Brigham, who seemed to occupy a position of authority in the office, said he never heard of such a person.

From another source it was learned that the man who is alleged to be drawing a salary from the city without rendering full service for the same is Henry Gompers, a brother of Samuel Gompers, ex-President of the American Federation of Labor.

Mr. Gompers was found at his place of regular employment, in Garcia & Co.'s cigar manufactory, 32 William street. He is a cigar-maker, and works steadily at the bench, making good wages.

The reporter told him of the rumors affecting him and of the investigation being made.

"Why," he replied, in unfeigned astonishment, "there are lots of 'em who are doing the same thing."

"Then it is true that you actually draw a salary from the city while you render no service?"

"Well," he replied, "I do some work, all that I am given to do."

"In what department are you employed?"

"In the Water Purveyor's office. I am an assistant foreman and get $2.50 a day when I work."

"Don't you draw your full salary regularly?"

"No, I only get paid for what I do. I get paid for what I do on the pay-roll."

In the cigar factory that Gompers worked there every day.

In the Water Purveyor's office an old man with a full gray beard at one of the desks, said that Gompers was one of the employees on the regular pay-roll and worked every day.

"Why," he was here this morning, got his assignment and went away. I don't know where he is now, probably somewhere about the city. It would be a hard matter to locate him now."

"Could you give me his house address?" asked the reporter.

"Certainly." Turning to a little book the old gentleman read:

"Henry Gompers, 42 Avenue D. You'll probably find him there to-night when he's through with his day's work."

Just how many other such men there are who spend their days at work for private concerns and draw salaries from the city is not known, but in view of this instance it is said the Comptroller has resolved to find out.

It would not be surprising, therefore, if the headman's case begins to fall in one department at least at the beginning of the coming week.

MARINE MONSTERS FIGHT.

Capt. Parton's Tale of a Deadly Battle in Mid-Atlantic.

The medal for truthfulness in telling fish stories easily belongs to Capt. Parton, of the British oil-tank steamship Northern Light, which arrived in port today from Rotterdam.

He declares that July 1, about 6 P. M., 250 miles west of Rock Hall, during a clear sky and smooth sea, he and his crew saw a deadly battle between a whale and a "thrasher," a huge fish which is the deadly enemy of all cetaceans.

The monsters were sighted just after nine miles away, kicking up a worse commotion than a waterpump. As the Northern Light came abreast of the mill, Capt. Parton avers that the "thrasher" which was eighty feet long stood up straight about twenty feet out of water, and with its long fins, "like a man's arms," (presumably "Lucky Fish" Fitzsimmons), dealt the whale a cowardly blow in the back.

The "bump-up" had not occurred when the captain reluctantly passed beyond sight of the battle, but he has no doubt that the "thrasher" won, although the whale was 120 feet long, according to sea reports.

The chief engineer exhibits a pen and ink sketch of the scrap in support of the captain's story.

MRS. MARTIN ARRESTED.

Victoria Woodhull Taken Into Custody on Her Niece's Charge.

Victoria Woodhull, Martin was arrested at her home in the city by Sheriff McGilroy this morning and taken to the Sheriff's office in the County Court-house.

In an affidavit in the case it is stated that Mrs. Martin had completed arrangements to sail to Europe to-day.

Mrs. Eliza C. Welles is the complainant against Mrs. Martin. She has brought a suit for damages in the Supreme Court, in which she alleges that Mrs. Martin fraudulently and feloniously carried away certain goods and chattels, valued at $2,000, belonging to her in November, 1891, and that subsequently she burned or otherwise destroyed the greater part of them.

Mrs. Martin's bail was fixed at $1,000. She gave security by depositing new $1,000 bill with the bond clerk in the Sheriff's office and was released.

Mrs. Welles is a niece of Mrs. Martin and, with her husband, Charles J. Welles, owns a house with her aunt at 202 West Seventy-second street.

GEBHARD TO GET $30,000.

Referee's Report on the Will of His Uncle, T. G. Davis.

The report of Referee William T. Gray in favor of Frederick Gebhard in the suit brought by him against Annie Davis and other heirs of his maternal uncle, Thomas G. Davis, was confirmed by Judge Storrs in the Supreme Court to-day.

Gebhard will receive $30,000 as his share of his uncle's estate, which was valued at $60,000. The proceeding was a suit in partition, and was a family affair.

BARBERS TO BE EVICTED.

Vicenzo Barberi, his wife and two children will be evicted to-night from their home, 261 Mott street, unless some one comes to their rescue and pays their rent for them.

Gumbert and Hawley the Opposing Nines—Stein Saved for the Colonels.

BYRNE TALKS OF PFEFFER.

Says the National Board Alone Has Jurisdiction in Transferring the Man.

(Special to The Evening World.)

EXPOSITION GROUND, PITTSBURG, Pa., July 13.—Manager Dave Foutz was guessing before today's game. He wanted to win the event in the worst kind of way. Who would pitch, was the problem. Gumbert will not pitch Sunday games and he couldn't take his turn to-morrow. These days a strong man must be saved for use against the Colonels. It was finally decided to put in Gumbert and save Stein for Sunday.

President Byrne was an angry man before the game. That story about New York trying to get Pfeffer is again afloat here. It was said every League man except President Byrne had agreed to the transfer.

"That's wrong—quite idiotic," said Mr. Byrne. "In the first place, the League has nothing to do with the case. It is in the hands of the National Board. Mr. Freeman evidently thinks it is easy to bring about a change of views of the National Board, but he is mistaken. I don't think the Board will suit itself by reconsidering the decision."

RACE TRACK, BRIGHTON BEACH, July 13.—The meeting here ended to-day and a very large crowd was in attendance. The day was disappointing, as have been several other days of the meeting, inasmuch as the fields were reduced to very small numbers by scratching.

The withdrawal of Sir Excess, our Jack and Rey del Carreres took much of the interest out of the fifth race and racegoers cannot be blamed if they give voice to the suspicion that the card has been padded frequently.

The weather was hot. The stand was more of a sweat-box than ever, owing to the large crowd. The track was in excellent shape and fast.

A SUGGESTION TO THE POLICE FOR TO-MORROW.

Here Are Some Ways in Which Uniformed Men "Got Inside" in the Old Day.

MAY RACE SUNDAY.

Defender Will Be Towed to Newport This Evening.

Workmen Finishing Her for Delivery to Mr. Iselin at Once.

Vigilant's New Mainmast Stretched Too Much in Her Spin.

(Special to The Evening World.)

BRISTOL, R. I., July 13.—Work on Defender's deck was continued until dark last night, and below some of the carpenters and painters worked by lamplight for awhile. The boat must be delivered to the Syndicate to-day. C. Oliver Iselin is determined to take the yacht to Newport this afternoon. It looks as if she could be ready to start by 5 o'clock. A rain squall now gathering in the northwest may delay the work, but it is understood she will go to Newport to-night, even if she has to be towed there.

That would be disappointing, for there are many here who expect Defender and Vigilant to start together in a friendly race down the bay before sundown.

As a result of yesterday's strong breeze, in which Vigilant tried her new mainmast, it was found that the sail stretched too much, so this morning the crew bent the old mainsail.

If the yacht race off Newport to-morrow, which is now the understanding, Vigilant may not be seen at her best, although she will be a good match for Defender under any conditions. Men have been at work all day planning the race, and the crew of Defender are putting the finishing touches on the jointer work in the cabin. The match-race crew on board and also a quantity of stores.

The boat is nearly down to her water line now, and by the time she gets water in her tanks, she ought to be just right.

At 12:30, Mr. Herbert C. Leeds, acting for Mr. Iselin, sent a couple of warning-up calls, both of which he did in better than 2:10, he came down to the wire, with Andrews in the sulky. There was a fierce wind blowing across the track.

A moderate southwest breeze was blowing and Alisa soon had a good lead on her opponent.

The yachts finished the first round in the following times:

First Race—Six furlongs. — Won by Time, 3 to 1 and even; Nick, second, 3 to 1; and Phoebe, third. Time—1:12.

Second Race—One mile and one-sixteenth. — Won by Nick, 1 to 1; Logan, second, 1 to 4 for place, and Clara, third. Time—1:50.

Supreme Court to Be Asked for an Order Next Week.

(Special to The Evening World.)

FLUSHING, L. I., July 13.—The tenth annual regatta, under the auspices of the Long Island Rowing Association, was held in Flushing Bay this afternoon. Drops of rain, which fell during the forenoon, served to put a damper on the officials. It also served to keep down the attendance, but so far as the oarsmen were concerned the weather had little effect upon the race.

The boatmen who hung around the village had made up their minds to reap a harvest, and in consequence the hiring of boats, which at ordinary times cost 25 cents, to-day cost about 500 per cent more.

The drawbridge was turned early in the morning, so that everybody who rode on the trolley lines was forced to pay a nickel in order to be carried across the river, less than forty yards wide.

There was considerable rivalry over the different events. Crews had been entered from the Empire Boat Club, Metropolitan Boat Club, Long Island Rowing Club, Flushing Boat Club, New York Athletic Club, Scowabaka Boat Club, Active Boat Club, Dauntless Boat Club, Nonpareil Boat Club, Nerus Boat Club, Atlantic Boat Club and the Union Boat Club.

J. L. Ballantine, of the Middle States Association, was officer of the day. M. B. Fox, starter, and J. H. Abel and Bob Hall, of C. Timers, and J. Demaree, of Graham and C. Roberts, judges of the finish. The clerk of the course was A. H. Friedman, assisted by A. H. Pelton and W. F. Wilcox. Judge J. G. Tack, President of the Association, was conspicuous during the early hours.

MASCOT PACES IN 2.05.

Breaks the Canadian Record on the Windsor Track.

WINDSOR, Ont., July 13.—The fourth day of the trials here saw the most sensational performance of the week. The Canadian record has been held by the Hamilton track at 2:07, and Mascot was brought here for the special purpose of lowering it.

After the horse sent a couple of warning-up calls, both of which he did in better than 2:10, he came down to the wire, with Andrews in the sulky. There was a fierce wind blowing across the track.
